Games People Play

"Oh, the games people play now, every night and every day now,

never meaning what they say now, never saying what they mean ..." Joe South

Is life a series of games to be met and mastered? Do we take our games too seriously and trivialize our more important activities and relationships?

Is flirting a game?
Is school a game?
Is life a game?

Is what Grantland Rice said true, that:

"When the One Great Scorer comes to write against your name,
He marks—not that you won or lost—but how you played the game"?

What is a game?

A game is a mental or physical contest played according to rules.

A game is any situation in which two or more people control a set of variables.

A game is any activity involving luck, skill, and knowledge.

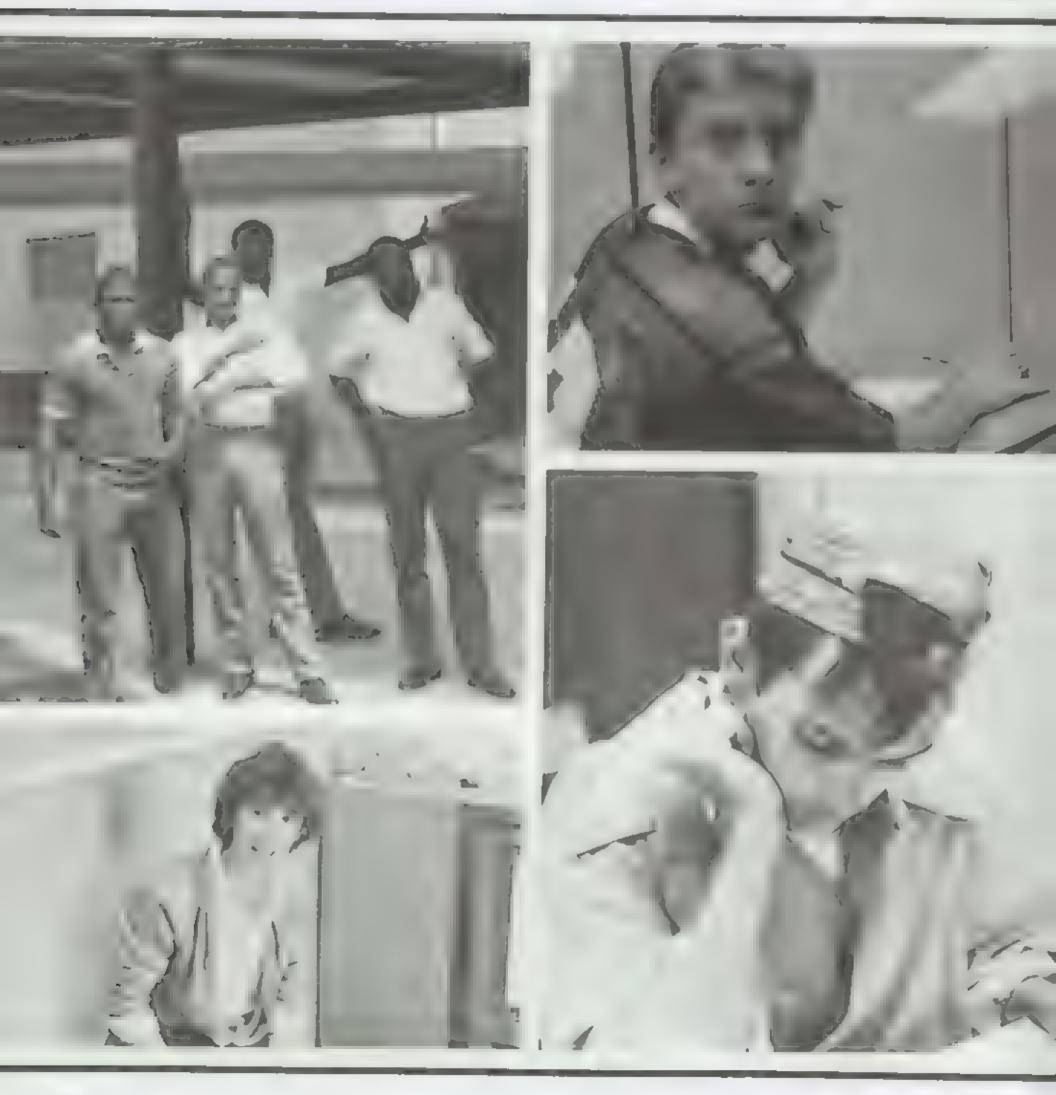

A game can be relaxing, exciting or challenging. It can also be frustrating, boring or demoralizing.

But what happens when the rules change, when one's skills are inappropriate or when one's luck has run out?

At J.H.S. everyday we play the dating, and the grading game. We get involved in the money game. Sometimes we get caught up in malicious backbiting and political games. We play one-up manship. We play love games and war games.

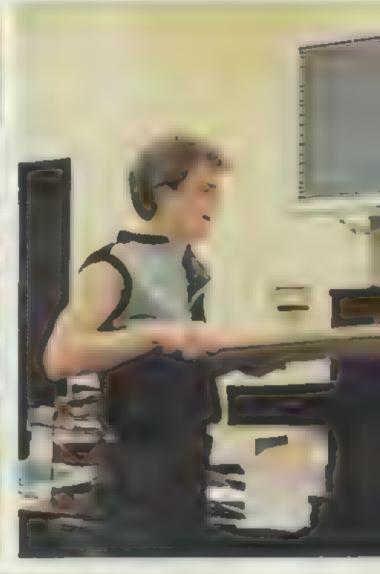

We play games with our food, our friends, and our family. We play physical, mental, and social games, together and alone.

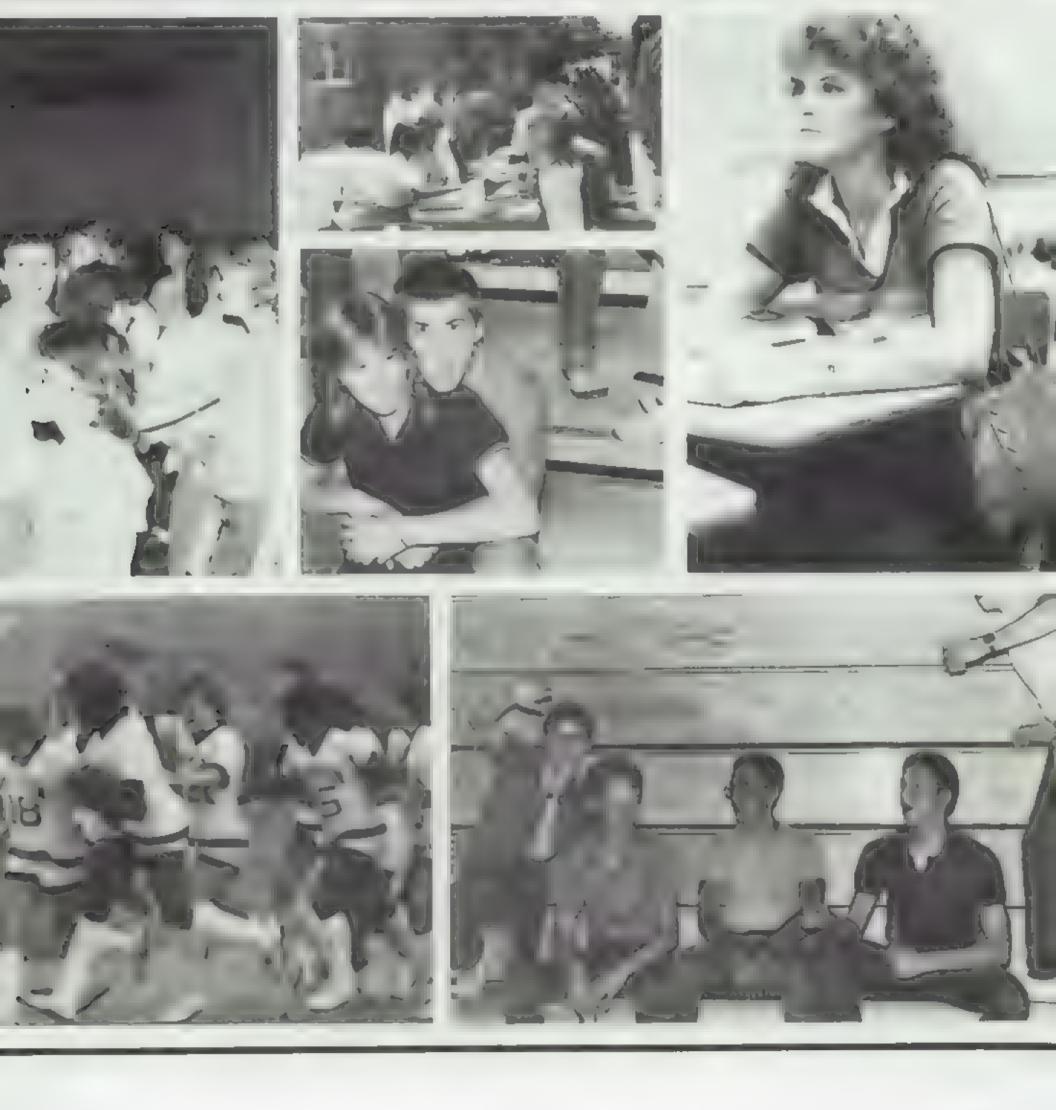

But gamesmanship has not yet completely replaced a gentleman's or a lady's code of behavior. There are still standards of living and learning and loving apart from the game.

The essential thing is to be aware and know. Is this a game? Do I really want to play? Am I playing to win? How far will I go?

The essential thing is to be aware and know. Is this a game? Do I really want to play? Am I playing to win? How far will I go?

"Oh the games people play now, every night and every day now.

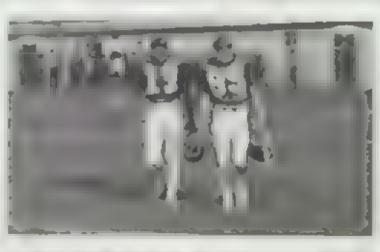

Talkin' 'bout you and me and the games people play." Joe South

All through recorded time, the game of life has consisted of competition between those who relish security and those who relish adventure and challenge; between those who know and those who seek to know; between those who follow... Diversity is the name of the game and JHS Red Devils play it well.

Senior class sponsors are five teachers who are responsible for holding the senior class together. They stay busy all year writing newsletters, assisting with the ordering of caps and gowns, helping to plan bacculaurate and commencement exercises, and seeing that everyone has the right name on his/her diploma. They are an organized group who know how to make all the right moves

Mr. J.H.S. and Miss J.H.S. Radd Maddox, Paula Wise

Being selected as a Senior Superlative is quite an honor at JHS For a student to receive this recognition from his peers he must make good grades, participate in extra-curricular activities and express a pleasing personality. Those selected as superlatives for 1985 have all exhibited qualities of leadership, dedication, and friendliness during their four years at JHS. On a bright winter afternoon the superlatives met on the porches of the home of Mr. J.R. Carmichael on McDonough Road to have their pictures made. The lovely house, which was built in the early 1800 s, is on the national register of historic homes

All the Right Moves

I don't ask for paradise, just space to call my own It won't mean a thing to me if I go there alone They promised us we'd have our chance that s all we're asking for A lucky break is overdue can't wait anymore Ill look beyond these small town streets. and see the world out there On, anyone can call their own If they d only dare There's no more for us than giving in and only getting by They say we re gonna sink or swim, but we intend to fly If we make all the right moves we can show them all There's no way we can lose it we make all the right moves We can show them all there's no way we can lose

Senior superlatives can be found participating in almost every activity at IHS from football to soft ball to drama receasing to classes and even to lunch The superlatives on this page are pictured left to right. The sophomore year is the year of high school when one decides if he is going to become a participant in the game or if he is going to remain a spectator on the sidelines. When one decides to join the game he soon finds that the sophomore year is filled with struggles if one is not prepared for all the extra work and studying that is involved in becoming a winner. This year, however, many sophomores chose to play the game and have made it look easy. They scored well in academic achievements, and also dived into extra-curricular activities such as cheerleading, band, athletics, clubs, and student government. Amidst the work, sophomores took some time out for fun as they ordered classings attended school dances, and learned to drive a car

Those people who dare to be different are the ones who add flair to JHS. Instead of becoming involved with athletic practices and contests, club meetings and activities, band rehearsals and performances, academic endeavors, or other school functions, many JHS students spend their afterschool hours at a place of work. The jobs vary from common to exciting Reasons for working are just in varied. Some students work to defer the cost of owning and operating a vehicle. Others work to help support their families, while others are preparng for life long careers. Through the DCT program 75 students leave school early everyday. Each one works between 25 and 40 hours per week. An unestimated number of students report to work as soon as the $10 bell rings every afternoon. Some of these working students are featured here

Caronne Storey works five days a week at the Sears Catalog Store. Her duties incl. de taking and filing catalog orders, handling problems with merchandise and operating the cash register. Robbie Thurston, an employee at Giant Mart, stocks shelves with groceries and carries groceries to cusomers cars. Derron Deraney, a junior who hopes to have a career in the field of banking and finance s employed at McIntosh State Bank. Learning how to install pools as well as acquiring the skills of plumbing and construction, is a part of Billy Dahin's job at Patterson Pool Supply. John Branch spends his free time assisting customers and assembang merchandise at Hometown Hardware. ATHL

ETICS

Everybody competes in some way against everyone else. Athletic games we play give individuals and teams the chance to "outplay" those individuals and teams who will attempt to negate our gameplans and bar our advancement. The Jackson Red Devils are fierce competitors and are seldom "outplayed" by anyone.

Severa, members of the 83-84 golf team will be teturning, bringing experience and knowledge assuring them of a successful season. These members are Clyde Newman, Stan Maddox, Tony Stewart, and Ross Duke. These golfers, along with the rest of the team, plan to putt their way to victory

Track

According to Coach Charles Garrard although the 1984 boys track team did well this year, they were not as strong as they have been in the past. Two members placed in the regional meet. They were Seneica Allen, 5th in the 220; and Paul Whitmire, 2nd in the shotput and the discus. Both will be returning in 1985

The girls track team began training early this year and placed 3rd in the subregion Jennifer Maddox had a state qualifying time in the 440 yard dash. "Overall they did very well," said Coach Homer Hector

Lady Devils Glide into Second State Championship

Jackson High's Lady Devils are still number one in the state. They had another tremendous season with twenty-two wins and zero losses

Led by the hitting power of the Sims twins and Kim Jones, and backed up by the superior defense of Christy Rutledge, Jennifer McLendon, and Paula Wise, the Devils overwhelmed all opponents. Angie Cochran's pitching was never off. She walked very few players all season and was always on top of her game

Jenny Vogt has played a big part in these games; she has been both their coach and their friend. 'She shows concern for all her players," said Jen McLendon

LEADERS

Tryouts in May signified a new beginning for the Varsity Football Cheerleaders, Over half the girls chosen to the squad for 1984 were rookies. Under the leadership of Alison Marsh as captain, the girls were shaped into a cheerleading squad. By August the squadwas ready to go to camp. Attending camp at the University of Georgia, the cheerleaders competed against eighty other squads and came out with several excellent awards. New outfits gave the cheerleaders a new enthusiasm, and throughout the season, the squad maintained that special pizzazz which never failed to rouse school spirit

CHERLEADERS

Of the more than twenty girls who tried out for the basketball cheerleading squad, eight of the most-spirited and most-talented were selected. During twenty season games, two roumaments, and tegional play-offs, the squad was always there to cheer for the Red Devils. The pep and enthusiasm they exhibited supported the teams through defeat and added excitement to victory. Under the guidance of sponsor Angela Mills, the basketball '84-85' cheerleaders were Kim Jackson, Arnita Eusery, Latonya Foster, Pleshett McCrary, Pam Smith, Pippi Bailey, Sonva Smith, and Tracy McKibben

BOYS'

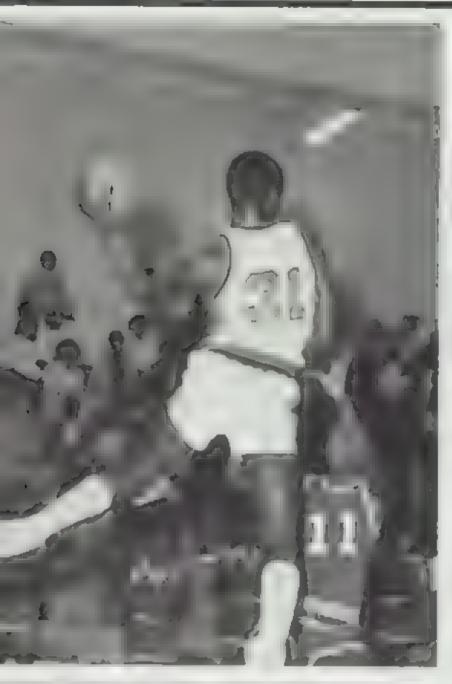

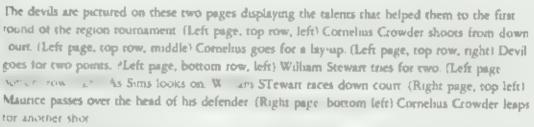

BASKETBALL

After several years of rebuilding, the boys basketball had hopes of winning the region title this year. After ending an on again and off again regular season with a record of 10 wins and 12 losses, the team entered region competition. In the first round of the region tournament, the Devils came from behind and defeated Pike County with a score of 37-32. Their hopes for a region championship were trounced by a loss of 46-33 to the Crawford County Eagles

Even though the boys did not win a region championship, they showed much improvement because they doubled their 1984 record of wins. Only two seniors. Notice Hunter and William Stewart, ended their high school basketball careers. Coach Caugherty believes that this year's winning record and experience will lead to an even better season in 1986.

The Junior Varsity team often saw action in varsity games in addition to meeting other J V teams from surrounding area schools. Members of the team include: Vincent Usher (Manager), Shawn Thurman, Grads Heed, Aver. Roberta, Authur Sims, Vincent Thurman, Etoy Ogletree, and Coach Bern.

GIRLS'

BASKETBALL

This year, the Lady Devils basketball team gave Devil fans much excitement during the usually gray and dreary winter months. The team finished the regular season with a record of 18 wins and 2 loses. In late February the sharp shooting, high scoring team entered the region competition. In the first round game of region play, the Lady Devils sank the Pike County Lady Pirates by a score of 59-23. Adv. Ing to the semifinals, the Lady Devils hosted Manchester and were victorious by a score of 83-64. In the final round, the Lady Devils defeated the Lady Warriors of Warriors of Warriors. With a score of 61-53, the Lady DeDevils brought home the Religion 3-AA championship. At the time of the yearbook deadline, the Lady Devils were scheduled to play Seminole County in the first round of state competition.

For their accomplishments on the basketball court, THE ATLANTA JOUR-NAL ranked the Lady Devils as the number ten team in the state. Coach Jenny Vogt said there were many reasons for the team's success however she said the in factor was that she had four players who could put points on the score-board. Therefore, one player was not relied on for scoring. In 1986, the team will be rebuilding because six of its key players are seniors.

Games People Play

ORGANI

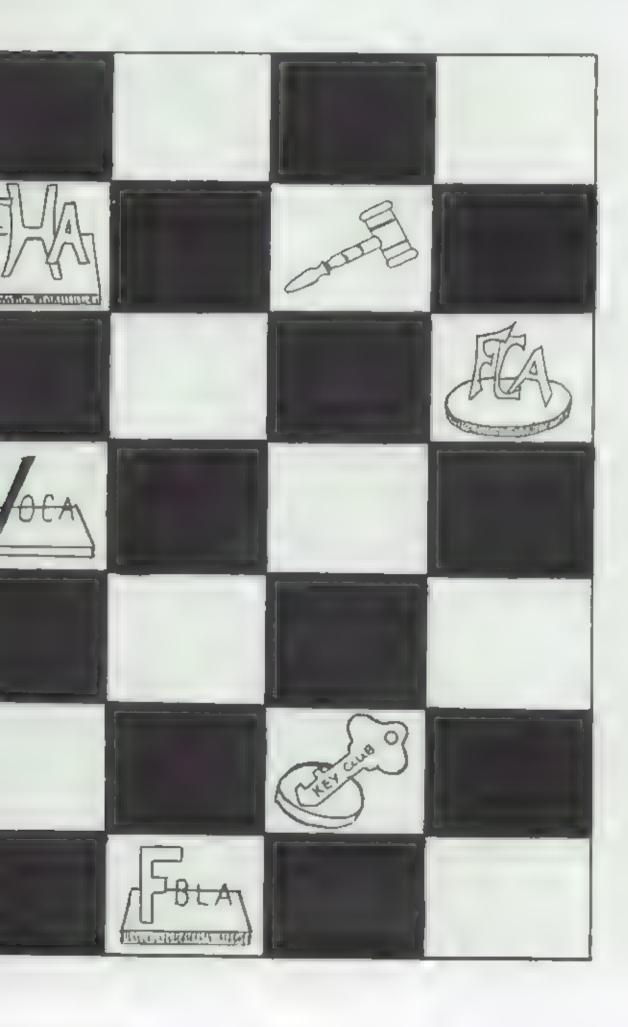

ZATIONS

The games we play can be divided into 3 main categories-games devoted to pleasure, games devoted to contemplation, and games devoted to action. Often, each person, in order to increase productivity or quality as well as rewards, must share his life and the actions of his time with others. At JHS positive club action and sharing are more than part of a game, they are a Red Devil way of life.

CLUBS Student Council

Student Council, the governing body of JHS students, provides activities which help to unify the school

The club has had a very busy schedule throughout the year as they sponsored special projects each month. Some of these were a Toys For Tots Campaign, Student Against Drunk Driving Day, Staff Appreciation Week, club day, and Spring Cleaning Week

Under the supervision of Marian Sanders and Susan Taylor, Student Council has had a great amount of participation from some very creative and very active students

Drill Team

Dedication, perserverance, and determination are all characteristics of the band members at JHS. After years of dwindling participation, the band is finally starting to rebuild. Under the leadership of Ernie Thompson, much progress has been made. Thompson, a former band director at Lamar Co. Middle School, has made many changes since his arrival to JHS. With the cooperation of band members, and many hours of practice, Thompson formed a drill team, flag corp, and a symphonic marching band.

Since Thompson had never worked with high school students before, he was very excited about coming to Jackson Thompson said, "I wanted a new challenge, and I got one."

Thompson sees that his first challenge is that of rebuilding a band that has been that of rebuilding a band that has been formerly devastated by the constant changing recruiting of junior high students into the band was the first step. By encouraging these students to participate, the chance of having a bigger and more experienced band, is increased.

Plans to compete with other schools should take place in four or five years. Many long hours of practice have been put to use by the dedicated members of the band. Their activities this year included football games, pep rallies, Christmas concerts, spring concerts, and, for some very talented players, All State Competition

To increase the size of the visual band, and to add to the excitement of the half-time performances, a drill team has been added to the band. Consisting of 6 talented girls, the drill team has helped to create more enthusiasm among the spectators. Next year Thompson hopes to add 10 more girls to the already successful drill team

As early as August, plans were being made for the 1984 Homecoming celebration. Then enthusiasm grew and grew and grew until everyone, faculty and students, went crazy with JHS spirit

Everyone had a task to complete before Homecoming, but student council members especially were at their best as they planned a full week of activities. Spiked or teased hair, made-up faces, and wild clothes were considered "high fashion" on Monday as Homecoming week began. The theme for the day was "Let's get excited" and the atmosphere was totally punk. Coming to school on Tuesday was like stepping back in time as fifties day claimed the prize for best class participation. Poodle skirts, penny loafers, slick hair, and leather jackets were back in style by the end of the school day. Since the Devil's opponent in the Homecoming game was the Harris County Tigers, Wednesday was proclaimed "Trash the Tigers Day." Everyone put his or her creativity to work and tried to out-do each other by creating and wearing outrageous outfits made from trash bags. The excitement reached a climax on Thursday Everyone wore red, white, or blue clothing and cheered madly at the only pep rally held during the football season. Friday night finally arrived with Meatrice Taylor crowned as Miss Homecoming and the Devils 35-6 victory over Harris County.

Student Council was not the only organization participating in Homecoming. FBLA was once again successful with its spirit chain contest. Each class competed to see who could buy the most links. Since each link sold for a nickel, FBLA earned a small fortune when they sold 10,000 links? But a recent the mast spirit and are were process to proceed as the JHS. FHA sponsored the first Mr JHS contest. Co-Ed-Y's candidate, Chris Thurston, was voted as the best looking, most talented, friendliest guy at JHS.

After the big victory, a celebration sock-hop was held in the gym. The main attraction was a successful for the sock hop, sponsored by Co-Ed-Y and KEY Club, ended a very successful homecoming week that will be remembered for years to come

Homecoming Glamour

Every little girl dreams of someday becoming a part of the homecoming court. This year, that dream came true for six lovely young ladies. Shanna Thurman, Lisa James, Lyndra Akins, Lori Bolton, Cindy Watkins, and Meatrice Taylor were selected to represent their respective classes during homecoming week. The girls were nominated by their classmates on the basis of beauty, personality, academic achievements, and athletic ability. For Meatrice Taylor, the dream was even nicer because the student body selected her as Miss Homecoming 1984.

In the past, twelve girls were selected to serve on the homecoming court. Student Council, however, decided to limit the number this year to six girls. Miss Marian Sanders, Student Council advisor, remarked, "Reducing the size of the court brought more honor and more prestige to the girls because the competition was keener."

GHP Nominees

The annual selection of Governor's Honors Program participants is eagerly and anxiously awaited by the nominees. Each year hundreds of students from high schools throughout the state are nominated, but only a select few are chosen

This year JHS has nominated three top students for the sixweek summer program. RICKY RIVERS was nominated in the vocational area. If selected, Ricky's academic achievements, job experience, and his desire and determination to succeed will surely stand him in good stead during the in-depth study of business management this summer

WADE MEREDITH was nominated in the social studies division of the academic area. A true history buff with a keen interest in politics and human endeavors, Wade excels not only in social studies but in other academic areas as well. If selected, he hopes the intense summer program will further prepare him for his future in politics

SHELLEY HOLLAND was nominated in the Fine Arts division. Drama has always been one of her main interests and in the last two years she has sharpened her dramtic skills through participation in Literary Meets, One-Act plays, and a major full ength production. Excited by the prospect of expanding her fact 15. Shelley is but one of three Red Devils who play the selection waiting game

The sound of music is what these young people heard everyday for eight weeks as they prepared for the 1985 Literary Meet. The Literary meet is a competition among high school students all over the state. There are two competitive parts to the meet, the actual literature section and the musical section. On this page are the students who represented JHS at the meet in music. The students participating in the meet formed a boys' quartet a girls' trio, and a girl's solo. The competition required each group to prepare one classical and one popular piece to sing. Through the guidance and training of music teacher, Beth Childs, these students learned and perfected many songs. The members of the group are girls trio, Alison Marsh, Deanna Evans, and Shelley Holland, boys' quartet, Michael Brewer, Bob Farrigan, Doug Hansen, and Melton Campbell, and girl's solo, Pam Morton marriage is a very serious and involved situation Those who have taken the course have learned that much time and money goes into a wedding. Miss Knapp teaches the class, and she says the reason for the mock marriage is to help teach the students about the responsibility that goes into a marriage Not only the ceremony, but the relationship, too, is important. The wedding ceremony, which is enacted yearly with students playing different roles, also teaches etiquette and food service. The Price Was Right

At 11,30 on October 8, everyone who could get out of class and to the nearest television set was watching "The Price is Right." No, students were not rebelling against an endless amount of classwork. Instead, they were anxiously awaiting the appearance of Mrs. Linda Arthur, JHS English teacher, on the popular daytime game show

During June of last summer, Mrs. Arthur and her husband vacationed in California. While they were there, they just happened to catch a taping of "The Price is Right."

'I just about died when my name was called as a contestant," Mrs. Arthur commented. "I was only kidding when I told a group of people that I would win."

Mrs. Arthur didn't just win, she won big! To get out of contestant's row Mrs. Arthur won a china cabinet by correctly estimating its price. While on stage, Mrs. Arthur played the Price Range Game and won a 1984 Pontiac 1000. According to all who watched the show, Bob Barker, the show's host, will never be the same. Michael Brewer admitted that at first he was not eager to earn extra elective hours by assisting the Jackson Kindergarten staff every morning. His views changed, however, and Michael spent his first period class during the school year assisting Mrs. Martha Jones' kindergarten class. Michael liked working with the children so much that he often arrived at the kindergarten at 8:00, which was twenty-five minutes before other JHS students ever thought of beginning class. To start the day, he helped the children cross the street from the Primary School to the Kindergarten. On rainy days he could often be found stopping traffic so the children could cross the street quickly and safely. As the children arrived in class he helped them put up their jackets and lunchboxes. Michael commented, "During class there is always a pair of pants that need to be snapped, a belt that needs to be buckled, and a shoe string that needs to be ned." Michael's other duties included reading stories to the children, helping the children learn their alphabet and numbers, and teaching the children to color. Even though Michael found that working with young children was both challenging and rewarding, he is seeking a career as an emergency medical technician. Pictured to the right is Michael Brewer assisting a youngster at the Jackson Kindergarten

Too Cool For School

With a record breaking temperature of -10 degrees Fahrenheit, Butts County schools were forced to close January 21 and 22

'Common sense, and not frozen pipes not heating problems, was the reason for the school closings," said Superintendent Loy Hutcheson. The administration was worried about the students who walked to school or wait for the buses.

Mrs. Patricia Paterson, English instructor from Gordon, advises Mike Sexton and Adam Grant about an apcoming paper

This year, 15 seniors got a head start on their college educations by taking joint enrollment college English and Math courses while they were still in high school Joint enrollment is a program that was started many years ago between JHS and Gordon Junior College whereby advanced seniors take college courses and get college credit from Gordon, Both English 101 and 102 and Math 115 and 116 were taught during the fall and winter quarters. To be eligible for the college credit, the JHS student must have a minimum score of 900 on the SAT and pay Gordon's tuition fees. Instructors from Gordon came to the JHS campus on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. On Tuesday and Thursday, Mrs. Houghtaking and Mrs. Lunsford assisted the students with their assignments. All of the students who participated in the program agreed that the classes were more challenging and required more study than an average high school course

Life On the Frontier

In the modern world of technology that we live in today, we sometimes find it necessary to escape from the hustle and bustle of our everyday life. This escape is often found in a weekend retreat to the wilderness. For Kelly Meredith, however, this retreat occurs everyday. Kelly, a JHS sophomore and cheerleader, lives in a log cabin similar to those constructed in the early pioneer days. Her father built the dream house and the Merediths have been living in the house for three and a half years, Providing a natural insulation, the log exterior of the house helps to conserve energy. Even though the exterior appearance of the house looks as though it should be on the pages of a history book, Kelly admits that the inside of the house is filled with modern conveniences. Kelly's house is pictured to the right

Clovers Bring Good Luck

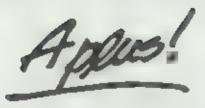

Competing for a place in Clovers and Company, Georgia's 4-H entertainment review is tough. After all, there are only so many positions and with 80 to 100 people auditioning, just one out of every 4 who audition will make it. This year Glenn Grant, a JHS junior and an active Butts County 4-H er. used his enthusiasm and musical talent to catch the judges' eyes to win a position in the show's band. As a member of the band, Glenn is part of the backbone of the whole production. During the show, Glenn does a spectacular solo on the soprano sax, and he is responsible for the show's special effects

The talented group has performed before distinguished audiences such as the State Legislature, Georgia Farm Bureau, and State 4-H Congress. Because of its growing reputation, Clovers and Company was invited to perform at National 4-H Conference in Washington, D.C., in April Glenn commented. "All of the members of Clovers and Company work hard and put in many hours to mold the group together into a talented, special group of performers."

Excellence In Education

Justin Waits was named as a finalist to receive a National Merit Scholarship from the National Merit Foundation. National Merit is an honor given to students who excel at taking the PSAT/NMSQT, which is a test all college-oriented students take their junior year

To achieve this honor students must first apply to become a National Ment Scholar. Receiving written commandations from teachers and from Principal Donny James, Waits mailed his application along with a personal essay to the National Ment Foundation. After 15,000 applications had been screened, 5,500 students from across the United States, including Justin, were chosen as National Ment Finalist.

When asked how he felt about receiving this honor. Waits replied, "It was a lot of trouble, but it has been worth it"

Justin, who is a very successful student, has excelled in many other things during his high school career. Last year he won the National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Award

Waits' plans for the future are to attend Mercer University as a Pre-Med student Since Justin has been chosen as a National Merit Finalist, he will now be eligible for a $2000 scholarship and possible national recognition

Although students are recognized many times throughout the year for their outstanding work, teachers seldom get any glory. This year, however, two teachers, Mrs. Nancy Houghtaling and Ms. Linda Garrard, have been singled out for being excellent teachers at JHS

Mrs. Houghtaling, chair person of the English Department, was animed as the Butts County Teacher-of-the-Year Mrs. Houghtaling has been teaching at JHS since 1969. Since then she has been named STAR Teacher six times and last year she received a commendation from the Georgia Legislature recognizing her as an outstanding educator. When asked how she fell about being chosen as Teacher-of-the-Year, Mrs Houghtaling commented, "I am truly thrilled to receive this honor

Linda Garrard had the distinct honor of being chosen as the local DAR chapter's History Teacher-of-the-Year. "I think it's great to be honored for something I enjoy doing," said Garrard. Ms. Garrard has been teaching at JHS for four years. During the summer of 1083. Ms. Garrard was chosen by Freedom's Foundation to participate in a Civil War workshop. She touted the Eastern battlefields with 49 other history teachers.

Many students will agree that both Mrs. Houghtaing and Ms. Garrard are outstanding teachers at JHS and will continue to be for many years to come

The 1985 Imprint was dedicated to the theme "Games People Play" to encourage each individual at JHS to recognize and develop his or her own skills in order that he or she might be a winner in the race of life. So often, winners get used to winning and losers get used to losing and this pattern continues until a change is made

To the 1985 Imprint staff I say "thank you". Each one of you are very talented individuals. It was the combination of these special talents and personalities that brought about one of the best JHS Imprints. Also, you never gave up and you remained patient despite my constant pleas for perfection about tool lines, copy, captions, and pictures

As each game nears its completion, we players tend to concede the win or loss for that moment and look forward to the next game. It is believed by many that the number of wins and losses is all important; others believe that it is more important how we play the game.

Both arguments are valid, but it is more likely that it doesn't matter whether we win or lose . . . until we lose! With that in mind, every player should strive to win the games of life, find solace in knowing a game was well played, and face each loss with the desire and determination to win the next one!
